Horizontal Accountability in Civil Society

What are the mechanisms of horizontal accountability in civil society, beyond those of division of powers in the state? Are these mechanisms amorphous, such as public opinion, or focused at particular loci, such as professions, corporations and non-profits? How can successful or unsuccessful horizontal accountability be identified and studied in cross-national perspective?

Posted January 2010. Equally welcome as contributions to this special topic are ethnographies, cross-national case studies, quantitative studies, and theoretical or conceptual analyses. Submissions remain open until August 2010; send them to comsoc@tamu.edu with an e-mail message expressing interest in this special issue.
