

Scope

African Diaspora (AFDI) is an interdisciplinary and bilingual (English and French) scholarly journal seeks to understand how African cultures and societies shape and are shaped by historical and current diasporic and transnational movements. The Journal charts uncovered territories and entangled histories of plural diasporas and transnational movements from, to and within Africa. The journal targets submissions on when and how diasporas are produced and lived, diasporic connections are claimed, and transnational engagements evolve, in tune with its interest in the ways in which these movements are navigated by people, networks, communities and states in historical, political and socio-cultural terms. It provides an academic context for critical debates on how diasporic and transnational movements reinforce, negotiate or negate one another. Issues of boundary making and crossing, belonging and citizenship, kinship and family configurations, religious ritual and symbolism, popular expressions and public culture, economic initiative and political agency form the heart of the diversity of these mediations. The Journal encourages the submission of articles based on original research. It also publishes short notes, communications, book reviews, and occasional thematic issues, as well as encourages policy related debates. Young and upcoming scholars are particularly encouraged to submit papers for consideration.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

Submission of an article for publication in any of Brills' journals implies the following:

1. All authors are in agreement about the content of the manuscript and its submission to the journal.
2. The contents of the manuscript have been tacitly or explicitly approved by the responsible authorities where the research was carried out.
3. The manuscript has not been published previously, in part or in whole, in English or any other language, except as an abstract, part of a published lecture or academic thesis.
4. The manuscript has not and will not be submitted to any other journal while still under consideration for this journal.
5. If accepted, the author agrees to provide Brill with a non-exclusive license to publish the article, in which the author confirms that the manuscript will not be published elsewhere in any form, in English or any other language, without prior written consent.
6. If the submission includes figures, tables, or large sections of text that have been published previously, the author has obtained written permission from the original copyright owner(s) to reproduce these items in the current manuscript in both the online and print publications of the journal. All copyrighted material has been properly credited in the manuscript. For more information on the reuse of figures, please go to brill.nl/downloads/Rights-in-Images.pdf.

Online Submission

African Diaspora (AFDI) now uses online submission only. Authors should submit their manuscript online via the Editorial Manager (EM) online submission system at: edmgr.com/afdi.

First-time users of EM need to register first. Go to the website and click on the "Register Now" link in the login menu. Enter the information requested.

When you register, select e-mail as your preferred method of contact. Upon successful registration, you will receive an e-mail message containing your Username and Password. If you should forget your Username and Password, click on the "Send Username/Password" link in the login section, and enter your first name, last name and email address exactly as you had entered it when you registered. Your access codes will then be e-mailed to you.

Prior to submission, authors are encouraged to read the 'Instructions to Authors'. When submitting via the website, you will be guided stepwise through the creation and uploading of the various files.

A revised document is uploaded the same way as the initial submission. The system automatically generates an electronic (PDF) proof, which is then used for reviewing purposes. All correspondence, including the editor's request for revision and final decision, is sent by e-mail.

Double-blinded Peer Review

AFDI uses a double-blind peer review system, which means that manuscript author(s) do not know who the reviewers are, and that reviewers do not know the names of the author(s). When you submit your article via Editorial Manager, you will be asked to submit a separate title page which includes the full title of the manuscript plus the names and complete contact details of all authors. This page will not be accessible to the referees. All other files (manuscript, figures, tables, etc.) should not contain any information concerning author names, institutions, etc. The names of these files and the document properties should also be anonymized.

File Format

Both Windows and Mac users are requested to save the file with the extension: .doc or .rtf.

Contact Address

For any questions or problems relating to your manuscript please contact: afdi@brill.nl. For eventual questions about Editorial Manager, authors can also contact the Brill EM Support Department at: em@brill.nl.

Submission Requirements

Language

Authors are asked to write either in English or French. Spelling in English (British or American) should be consistent throughout. The text should be grammatically correct and punctuation and spelling should be adapted according to the language used.

Fonts

Use only one font for the text. If you have need of special diacritics then Brill suggests the Gentium font. For all diacritics that cannot be displayed with regular fonts or Gentium, please send along the font with the article's electronic version. Please use a Unicode compliant font. For any article using special fonts, send along a PDF file with the fonts embedded.

Length

Articles should not exceed 9000 words long.

Manuscript Structure

Manuscripts should be submitted double-spaced throughout (including quotations, footnotes, bibliography), and all pages consecutively numbered.

The author's name, affiliation and contact details, including e-mail and full address should be supplied with the article as a separate title page, see above under double blinded peer review.

Formatting

- Contributions should have as little formatting as possible. All formatting will be done by the typesetter.
- Indent paragraphs with only one tab.
- The article should start with an abstract of 150 words (no table of contents).
- Obvious structures in the article should be clearly outlined with the use of headings. All headings should be flush left.

First Level Headings Are Bold

Second Level Headings Are Italic

Abstract & Keywords

There should be an abstract of not more than 150 words that clearly defines the thesis and the sources quoted. Up to 5 keywords should be included to identify the article. All articles will have abstracts and keywords in both English and French.

Figures

- The journal strongly welcomes pictorial material of any kind: photos, maps, graphs, etc. Illustrations should be sent along with the manuscript as separate files. They should be graphic files that are at least 300 dpi for pictures and at least 600 dpi for line drawing. The format should be TIF or JPEG. Digital versions of hard copies should be scanned at least at 600 dpi and saved as a .tif, .jpeg or .pdf file.
- All images will be reproduced in black and white in the print version of the journal. Full color reproduction will be charged to the author.
- All illustrations, maps, photos and line drawings should be clearly numbered and should be referred to within the text.

References

Please use author date system (Name 2012: 1) instead of footnotes.

Include a complete list of all cited references at the end of the article, formatted in Chicago style: (chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide.html).

Publication

Proofs

Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to the author by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. In the event of a multi-authored contribution, proofs are sent to the first-named author unless otherwise requested. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. At this stage in the production process only minor corrections are allowed. Alterations to the original manuscript at this stage will result in considerable delay in publication and, therefore, are not accepted unless charged to the author. Proofs should be returned within 7 days of receipt.

E-Offprints

A PDF file of the article will be supplied free of charge by the publisher to authors for personal use. Brill is a RoMEO green publisher. Authors are allowed to post the pdf post-print version of their articles on their own personal websites free of charge. This means they can show the article exactly as it appears in print. The institute employing the author is allowed to post the post-refereed, but pre-print version of articles free of charge on its repository. The post-refereed, pre-print version means the final accepted version of the manuscript before typesetting.

If you are the author of an article, you will also be sent a printed copy of the journal.

Consent to Publish

This is a full Open Access journal meaning that all content will be published under a non-exclusive Open Access license. The author(s) sign a special Brill Open Consent to Publish form.
