

Scope

The Journal of Islamic Manuscripts (JIM) explores the crucial importance of the handwritten book in the Muslim world. It is concerned with the written transmission of knowledge, the numerous varieties of Islamic book culture and the materials and techniques of bookmaking, namely codicology. It also considers activities related to the care and management of Islamic manuscript collections, including cataloguing, conservation and digitization. It is the Journal's ambition to provide students and scholars, librarians and collectors – in short, everyone who is interested in Islamic manuscripts – with a professional journal and functional platform of their own. It welcomes contributions in English, French and Arabic on codicology, textual studies, manuscript collections and collection care and management. Papers will be peer-reviewed to maintain a high scholarly level. The Journal of Islamic Manuscripts is published on behalf of the Islamic Manuscript Association Limited, an international non-profit organization dedicated to protecting Islamic manuscripts and supporting those who work with them.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

Submission of an article for publication in any of Brills' journals implies the following:

1. All authors are in agreement about the content of the manuscript and its submission to the journal.
2. The contents of the manuscript have been tacitly or explicitly approved by the responsible authorities where the research was carried out.
3. The manuscript has not been published previously, in part or in whole, in English or any other language, except as an abstract, part of a published lecture or academic thesis.
4. The manuscript has not and will not be submitted to any other journal while still under consideration for this journal.
5. If accepted, the author agrees to transfer copyright to BRILL and the manuscript will not be published elsewhere in any form, in English or any other language, without prior written consent of the Publisher.
6. If the submission includes figures, tables, or large sections of text that have been published previously, the author has obtained written permission from the original copyright owner(s) to reproduce these items in the current manuscript in both the online and print publications of the journal. All copyrighted material has been properly credited in the manuscript. For more information on the reuse of figures, please go to brill.nl/downloads/Rights-in-Images.pdf

Submission

Articles should be submitted to the Editor, Dr. J.J. Witkam by e-mail at:
j.j.witkam@hum.leidenuniv.nl.

File Format

Both Windows and Mac users are requested to save the source files of their manuscript with the extension: .doc or .rtf. This also applies to Office 2007 users.

Submission Requirements

Language

Contributions may be submitted in English, French and Arabic. Articles in English should conform to the Oxford Style Guide and the Oxford Dictionary (oxforddictionaries.com/page/askoxfordredirect). All articles should be grammatically sound in the language in which they are submitted. If necessary, please enlist the help of a native English-speaking colleague prior to submission.

Length

Articles should not exceed 10,000 words.

Non-Roman Fonts

- Use only 1 font for the text.
- If you have need of special diacritics then Brill suggests the Gentium font: scripts.sil.org/Gentium_download.
- For all diacritics that cannot be displayed with regular fonts or Gentium, please send along the font with the article's electronic version.
- For any article using special fonts, send along a PDF file with the fonts embedded.
- For more information on fonts as well as on special scripts and transliteration, please refer to the Brill websites: brill.nl/files/brill.nl/metrical-characters-unicode-updated.pdf, brill.nl/downloads/Handling-Transliteration.pdf.

Manuscript Structure

- Manuscripts should be submitted including quotations, footnotes, bibliography.
- Contributions should have as little formatting as possible. All formatting will be done by the typesetter.

Abstract and Keywords

Articles should include a short abstract of no more than 150 words that clearly defines the thesis and 3-10 keywords.

Headings

Headings should be flush left. First level headings are bold. In English this is:

The First Level Heading

Figures

- Digital versions should be scanned at least at 600 dpi and sent through as a .tif, .jpeg or .pdf file.
- All images can be scanned in colour. Full colour publications in print will be charged to the author while colour online is free of charge.
- All illustrations, maps, photos and line drawings should be numbered clearly and should be referred to within the text.

Quotations and Dialogue

- Periods and commas precede quotation marks. However, colons, semicolons, exclamation points, and question marks follow closing quotation marks unless a question mark or exclamation point belongs within the quoted matter {Which of Shakespeare's characters said, "All the world's a stage"?} {He asked her, "Where are you from?"}.
- In quoted material, leave spelling unchanged except in the case of obvious error.

References and Citations

- The first time something is cited it should be as complete as possible.
- Shorten subsequent citations of sources already given unless doing so could confuse the reader.
- A frequently mentioned work may be cited parenthetically within the text.
- Use ibid. (in roman type) to refer to a single work cited in the note immediately preceding it. Do not use op. cit., idem., or loc. cit.

Running Text Citations

- Many non-academic sources may be cited initially in running text rather than in a note.
 - "In a conversation with the author on October 12, 1999, Mr Smith said that . . ."
 - "As William Niederkorn noted in a New York Times article on June 20, 2002 . . ."

References

Books

Wendy Doniger, Splitting Differences (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1999), 65.

Nake M. Kamrany and Richard H. Day, eds., Economic Issues of the Eighties (Baltimore: John Hopkins University Press, 1980).

Andrew Wiese, "The House I Live In': Race, Class, and African American Suburban Dreams in the Postwar United States," in The New Suburban History, ed. Kevin M. Kruse and Thomas J. Sugrue (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2006), 101–2.

Print Journal Article

John Maynard Smith, "The Origin of Altruism," Nature 393 (1998): 639.

Daniel C. Batson, "How Social is the Animal? The Human Capacity for Caring," American Psychologist 45 (March): 336–46.

Scriptural References

- References to Jewish or Christian scriptures should include book (in roman and usually abbreviated), chapter, and verse—never a page number. Do not abbreviate the book title in running text. It is essential to identify which version of the Christian bible is being cited.
 - 4.1 Thess. 4:11, 5:2–5, 5:14 (New Revised Standard Version).
- The Qur'an is cited as follows: Qur'an 19:17–21.

Unpublished Material

- Materials posted online are published and should follow the style described under “Electronic sources.”
- The titles of unpublished works should be set in quotation marks.
- The word unpublished is unnecessary.
- The title is not italicized; it is written in headline style and put in quotation marks.

Online Material

- Online material that is analogous to print material (such as articles published in online journals, magazines, or newspapers) should be cited similarly to their print counterparts, but with the addition of a URL (Web site address).
- For online or other electronic sources that do not have a direct print counterpart (such as an institutional Web site or a Weblog), give as much information as you can in addition to the URL.
- Revision dates or access dates should not be included unless the page no longer exists. In that case, authors may either include access dates or the home page of the site.

Informally Published Electronic Material and Website Content

- May be cited in running text, in-text, or in a note.
 - “On its Web site, the Evanston Public Library Board of Trustees states . . .”
 - Evanston Public Library Board of Trustees, “Evanston Public Library Strategic Plan, 2000–2010: A Decade of Outreach,” Evanston Public Library, <http://www.epl.org/library/strategic-plan-00.html>.

Numbers

- In general, spell out numbers one to one hundred, round numbers (hundreds, thousands, and millions), and any number beginning a sentence.

Publication

Proofs

Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to the author by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. In the event of a multi-authored contribution, proofs are sent to the first-named author unless otherwise requested. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. At this stage in the production process only minor corrections are allowed. Alterations to the original manuscript at this stage will result in considerable delay in publication and, therefore, are not accepted unless charged to the author. Proofs should be returned promptly within a period of 7 days.

E-Offprints

A PDF file of the article will be supplied free of charge by the publisher to authors for personal use. Brill is a RoMEO green publisher. Authors are allowed to post the pdf post-print version of their articles on their own personal websites free of charge. This means they can show the article exactly as it appears in print. The institute employing the author is allowed to post the post-refereed, but pre-print version of articles free of charge on its repository. The post-refereed, pre-print version means the final accepted version of the manuscript before typesetting.

Consent to Publish

Exclusive License to Publish

By submitting a manuscript, the author agrees that the publisher will have an exclusive license to publish the article if and when the article is accepted for publication. For that purpose the author needs to sign the Consent to Publish which will be sent with the first proofs of the manuscript.

Open Access

In case the author wishes to publish the article in Open Access he/she can choose the Brill Open option, which allows for a non-exclusive Open Access publication in exchange for an Article Publishing Fee, and sign a special Brill Open Consent to Publish.

More information on Brill's policy on Open Access can be found on brill.nl/open-access-policy. The Brill Open Consent to Publish can be downloaded from brill.nl/downloads/BrillOpen-Consent-to-Publish.pdf.